

CONTENTS

Preface	xix
Acknowledgments	xxi

CHAPTER 1

“SO YOU WANT TO STUDY MEDIATION?” An Introduction to the Processes of Mediation and the Skills of Effective Mediators	1
§1.1 What this Book Is About, and a Word on its Perspective	1
§1.2 What Is Mediation?	2
§1.3 Where Does Mediation Fit in the Range of Dispute Resolution Processes? What Are its Distinctive Characteristics, Advantages and Disadvantages for Potential Users?	4
Rosa Lopez and Texitron, Inc.	4
§1.4 Views from the “Outside”: Why Are People, Courts and Other Institutions Increasingly Using Mediation? What Concerns Might this Raise?	9
§1.5 Views from the “Inside”: The Mediator’s Role and Function	12
§1.6 The Skills of Effective Mediators: An Introduction	14
§1.7 How this Book Is Organized	15
DVD Case Summaries	16

CHAPTER 2

BASICS OF NEGOTIATION THEORY AND WHY NEGOTIATIONS FAIL	21
§2.1 What Does it Mean to Say that Negotiations “Fail”?	21
§2.2 Introduction to Negotiation Theory: “Competitive” Versus “Problem-Solving” Negotiation	26
§2.3 Basics of Competitive (Distributive) Bargaining	27
Bellow & Moulton, The Lawyering Process	28

§2.4	Basics of Problem-Solving (Integrative) Negotiation	34
§2.5	Strategic Barriers to Settlement and the Mediator’s Role	38
§2.6	Psychological Barriers to Settlement	39
§2.7	Cognitive Barriers to Settlement	48
§2.7.1	Distortions in Developing and Evaluating a Case for Settlement	49
§2.7.2	Distortions in Planning for Negotiation: The Problem of the Mythical Fixed Pie	53
§2.7.3	Distortions at the Table: Misinterpreting and Miscalculating Settlement Offers	54
§2.8	Additional Barriers to Settlement and Some Concluding Thoughts	59

CHAPTER 3

THE ROLE OF THE MEDIATOR: DIFFERING APPROACHES, FUNDAMENTAL NORMS 61

§3.1	The Many Faces of Mediation	61
§3.2	Differing Conceptions of the Mediator’s Role: Historical Roots	64
§3.3	The Mediator’s Goals in Action: A Case of a Broken Car Mirror	66
§3.4	Mediation Outcomes: Should “Solving the Problem” Be the Goal? If So, What Problem and What Kind of Solution?	68
§3.5	The Transformation Objective: Emphasizing Personal Growth and Learning	69
§3.6	From Goals to Actions: How Much Influence Should the Mediator Exert?	71
	Riskin, Mediator Orientations, Strategies and Techniques	74
§3.7	The Facilitative-Evaluative Debate: Case Examples and a Hypothetical Discussion	77
	An Imaginary Discussion between Facilitative (F) and Evaluative (E) School Representatives	79
§3.8	Three Fundamental Norms: Self-Determination, Impartiality and Neutrality	83
§3.9	Contextually Sensitive Mediation: Playing the Right Role at the Right Time	84
§3.10	Variables in Determining the Right Goal and Role	86

CHAPTER 4

PREPARING TO MEDIATE 91

§4.1	Introduction: Can Mediations Be Planned?	91
§4.2	The Importance of Planning: Providing Procedural Justice	92

§4.3	A Key Determinant of the Extent of Planning: How the Case Got to Mediation	92
§4.4	Is This Case Appropriate for Mediation?	94
§4.5	Am I the Right Mediator?	96
§4.6	Should I Have Pre-Mediation Contacts with the Parties?	100
§4.7	Should I Use a Written Mediation Agreement?	101
§4.8	Who Should (and Who Should Not) Be Present at the Mediation?	102
§4.9	How Should I Arrange the Physical Setting to Enhance the Likelihood of Success?	105
§4.10	How Formal or Informal Should I Be?	107
§4.11	When Should the Mediation Take Place? How Long Will It Last?	109
§4.12	Final Preparations: Anticipating and Analyzing the Problem	111
	Small Claims Court: Complaint, Answer and Counterclaim	112

CHAPTER 5

MEDIATION AS A STRUCTURED PROCESS 117

§5.1	Introduction	117
§5.2	The Need for Structure: Lessons from a Story	119
§5.3	The Progressive Structure of a Model Mediation	124
§5.4	The Limits of a Model Structure	126

CHAPTER 6

OPENING THE PROCESS, DEVELOPING INFORMATION 127

§6.1	The Mediation Begins	127
§6.2	The Mediator’s Opening Statement	128
	Case Examples	129
§6.3	Developing Information: Mediation as an Interview	131
§6.4	A Progressive Model of Information Gathering in Mediation: Moving from Non-Directive and Party-Centered to More Directive and Mediator-Generated Questioning	134
§6.5	Assisting the Participants’ Opening Statements	137
	§6.5.1 In General, Begin with Very Open Questions	138
	§6.5.2 Who Gets to Speak First?	140
	§6.5.3 Responding to Initial Party Narratives	143
§6.6	Throughout the Process: The Critical Importance of Good Listening	144
§6.7	A Brief Note on Note-Taking	147

§6.8	Encouraging An Unstructured Conversation: The Process of “Exchange”	148
§6.9	Key Communication Enhancing Tools	149
§6.9.1	Establish Empathy and Improve Communication through Active Listening	149
§6.9.2	Decrease Perceptual Barriers by Pointing Out Agreements	150
§6.9.3	Reduce the Sting of Angry, Negative Statements by “Productive Reframing”	152
§6.9.4	Reduce Perceptual Distortions by Clarifying Meaning	153
§6.9.5	Reduce Tension by Coaching People to Express Their Anger Productively	154
§6.9.6	Ensure Balance by Stating and Enforcing Ground Rules	155
§6.10	The Challenges of Multi-Tasking in the Opening Stage of Mediation	156
	Special Situations: Separating the Parties at the Outset	157

CHAPTER 7

EXPANDING INFORMATION TO AID THE NEGOTIATIONS

		159
§7.1	Introduction	159
§7.2	The Mediator’s Goals in Information Expansion	161
§7.3	Toward a Model of Information Expansion in Mediation	163
§7.4	In General: Organizing the Inquiry	165
§7.4.1	Focus on Both the Past and the Future	165
§7.4.2	In General, Question Topically, Not Chronologically	166
§7.4.3	Begin by Fleshing Out the Parties’ Own Statements, Ideas and Feelings	171
	Clarifying Cultural Meanings	175
§7.5	Goal-Driven Information Categories and a Logical Progression for Asking about Them	175
§7.5.1	Probe for Empathy and Mutual Understanding	176
§7.5.2	Probe for More Issues, More People and More Resources	177
§7.5.3	Probe for Future Dealings and Interdependencies	178
§7.5.4	Probe for Readiness: Ensuring that the Matter Is Ripe for Mediation	180
§7.5.5	Inquire about Previous Discussions of the Dispute and Past Negotiations	181

§7.5.6	Inquire about Other Persons Who Must Be Satisfied with a Proposed Resolution	182
§7.5.7	Probe for Needs, Interests and Priorities	183
§7.5.8	Probe for Uncertainty and Doubt	186
§7.5.9	Probe for Negotiation Norms, Standards and Past Practices	190
§7.5.10	Probe for Alternatives to a Negotiated Settlement and the Impact of Non-Resolution	191
§7.6	Beyond Categories: The Role of Intuition, Curiosity and the “Third Ear”	192
§7.7	To the Maximum Extent Possible, Develop Information in Joint Meetings	193
§7.8	Conducting the Information Caucus	195

CHAPTER 8

IDENTIFYING AND FRAMING NEGOTIATING ISSUES, ORGANIZING AN AGENDA

§8.1	Introduction	199
§8.2	Issue Identification and Agenda Construction: The Benefits	200
§8.3	What Is a “Mediable” (Negotiable) Issue?	201
§8.4	Proposing and Framing Mediation Issues	206
	Exercise: Identifying and Framing Issues	208
§8.5	How Negotiation Agendas Emerge	208
§8.6	Constructing an Agenda: Complexity vs. Manageability	210
§8.7	Organizing a Multi-Issue Agenda	211
	Review Exercise: Identifying and Framing Issues and Constructing a Multi-Issue Agenda	216

CHAPTER 9

GENERATING MOVEMENT THROUGH PROBLEM-SOLVING AND PERSUASION

§9.1	Introduction	217
§9.2	The Prevalence of Persuasion in Mediation; Persuasion and Problem-Solving Defined	217
§9.3	Effective Persuasion: A Conceptual Overview	219
§9.4	Setting the Table for Persuasion: “Conditioning” the Parties	222
§9.5	Generating Movement: A “Progressive” Model of Problem-Solving and Persuasion	226
§9.5.1	Persuasion Based on Empathy: Role Reversal	227
§9.5.2	Persuasion Through Healing: Apology	229

§9.5.3	Persuasion By Appealing to Interests: Problem-Solving	233
§9.5.4	Persuasion Through Doubt: Providing Feedback and Evaluation	235

CHAPTER 10

CONDUCTING THE BARGAINING, DEALING WITH IMPASSE

		243
§10.1	Introduction	243
§10.2	Conducting the Actual Bargaining: A Range of Formats	243
§10.3	Group Brainstorming: Multiplying Options Through Collaboration	244
	Tips for Brainstorming	245
§10.4	Face-to-Face Negotiations	247
§10.5	Caucused Negotiation or “Shuttle Diplomacy”	247
§10.6	Using Mixed Negotiation Formats	249
	Mediating Online?	250
§10.7	Conducting the Actual Bargaining: The Mediator’s Role	250
§10.8	What Offers and Concessions Will Be Made, and When?	252
§10.9	Communicating Offers: How Will They Be Framed and Justified, and by Whom?	254
	The Mediator as Messenger: Carrier Pigeon or Blind-Bid Auctioneer?	255
§10.10	How Will Offers Be Received and Evaluated?	256
§10.11	In General: Keeping the Talks Moving and Avoiding “No”	259
§10.12	Dealing with Impasses	260
	§10.12.1 Step One: Analyze the Case Objectively to Determine Whether It “Should” Settle	261
	§10.12.2 Step Two: When Facing an Apparent Impasse, Analyze and Address the Remaining Barriers to Settlement	263
§10.13	When Time Is Running Out: “End Game” Settlement Techniques	267
§10.14	Some Final Thoughts on Impasse	269

CHAPTER 11

CONCLUDING THE MEDIATION

		271
§11.1	Introduction	271
§11.2	The Importance of Closure	271
§11.3	Formalizing Agreements: Is A Writing Needed?	273
§11.4	Who Should Draft the Agreement?	274

§11.5	Drafting Settlement Agreements: Principles and Objectives	275
	Settlement Agreement: Wilson v. DiLorenzo	276
§11.6	Better than Nothing: Partial and Interim Agreements	284
§11.7	When No Resolution Is Reached	285
CHAPTER 12
THE ETHICS OF MEDIATING		289
§12.1	Introduction: Is Mediation a Regulated Profession?	289
	The Model Standards of Conduct for Mediators (August 2005)	291
	Standard I. Self-Determination	291
	Standard II. Impartiality	291
	Standard III. Conflicts of Interest	292
	Standard IV. Competence	292
	Standard V. Confidentiality	293
	Standard VI. Quality of the Process	293
	Notes and Questions	293
§12.2	Should I Mediate this Case? Issues of Competence, Conflicts of Interest and Disclosure	295
	Problem One: What Must the Mediator Disclose?	295
	Problem Two: What if I Know One of the Parties?	296
§12.3	Do I Have Any Responsibility for the “Fairness” of the Parties’ Agreement?	296
	Problem Three: “Procedural” Power Balancing?	299
	Problem Four: “Informational” Power Balancing?	300
	Problem Five: Power Balancing by Negotiation “Coaching”?	301
§12.4	Mediation and the Problem of Criminal and Other Unlawful Conduct	304
	Problem Six: Problematic Agreements	304
§12.5	Ethical and Policy Issues Regarding Confidentiality	307
	Problem Seven: Describing Mediation Confidentiality	312
	Problem Eight: Confidentiality and Discovery	312
	Problem Nine: Confidentiality Assisting Fraud	313
§12.6	Pursuing Settlement: What Are the Ethical Limits?	314
	Problem Ten: Mediator Non-Disclosure of Information	315
	Problem Eleven: Tailoring Legal Evaluations	317
	Problem Twelve: Circumventing the Lawyer	318
§12.7	On Developing Judgment: Some Concluding Thoughts	321

CHAPTER 13

REPRESENTING CLIENTS IN MEDIATION	323
§13.1 Introduction	323
A Campus Death: The Yanni Case	324
§13.2 Deciding Whether to Enter Mediation: The Roles of Lawyer and Client	325
Problem One: Counseling About Choice of Process	329
§13.3 Initiating Mediation	329
Problem Two: Proposing Mediation	329
Problem Three: Choosing the Right Mediator	331
§13.4 Preparing for the Proceedings	332
Problem Four: Who Should Attend?	333
Defendant's Confidential Memorandum to the Mediator	334
§13.5 Preparing the Client for Mediation	337
Problem Five: The Client's Role at the Mediation	338
Problem Six: Establishing Settlement Authority	340
Preparing the Client for Mandatory Mediation: What Constitutes "Good Faith" Participation?	341
§13.6 Developing an Overall Negotiation Strategy	342
Problem Seven: A Plan for the Yanni Mediation	344
§13.7 At the Table: Representing the Client's Interests	344
Problem Eight: Party Opening in Yanni	344
§13.8 Closing the Circle: Process Pluralism Revisited	351
Appendix A Mediation Transcripts for Analysis	353
Appendix B Model Standards of Conduct for Mediators (September 2005)	467
Appendix C Model Standards of Practice for Family and Divorce Mediation (2001)	475
Appendix D Uniform Mediation Act (Excerpts)	485
Appendix E Selected Excerpts, A.B.A. Model Rules of Professional Conduct (As Amended Through August 2007)	489
Appendix F Tolman Screening Model (Modified)	499
DVD Index	501
Index	505